

Improving Cultural Safety In Pediatric Healthcare

The DPSS team is honoured and proud to have partnered with McGill University's School of Physical & Occupational Therapy in creating "Stories of Pediatric Rehabilitation Practitioners With/In Indigenous Communities: A Guide to Becoming Culturally Safer".

DPSS Coordinator Jessica Jackson-Clement and PPRO Team Leader Aimee-Elizabeth Parsons worked with a team of researchers under the supervision of Hiba Zafran, Associate Professor (Teaching).

Download The Guide

STORIES OF PEDIATRIC REHABILITATION PRACTITIONERS

WITH/IN INDIGENOUS COMMUNITIES

A GUIDE TO BECOMING CULTURALLY SAFER